

"We had a number of questions regarding our network. Molex provided the honest answers."

Maximise your network, maximise your business potential

Whether your organisation is developing a new network infrastructure or upgrading a legacy system, we're committed to maximising its capabilities for you today and for years to come.

Our global team of technical experts will provide a true and honest assessment of your network infrastructure and offer the most suitable & effective solution for your specific requirements.

For over 20 years the Premise Networks Division of Molex has manufactured comprehensive UTP, FTP and Optical Fibre cabling systems for the transmission of voice, data and video imaging signals.

As one of the original pioneers of structured cabling we have provided state-of-the-art cabling solutions to some of the largest organisations in the world.

To unlock the potential in your network infrastructure, go to www.molexpn.com