

"With a mission critical network, we need the peace of mind that a warranted system brings."

Total network support, from conception to completion

Wherever you are in your project - from assessing your requirements through to implementing your new network infrastructure, we can offer you support every step of the way.

We have high quality manufacturing processes, a global network of professionally trained installers and highly trained technical and support personnel - we see it as our job to support you.

For over 20 years the Premise Networks Division of Molex has manufactured comprehensive UTP, FTP and Optical Fibre cabling systems for the transmission of voice, data and video imaging signals.

As one of the original pioneers of structured cabling we have provided state-of-the-art cabling solutions to some of the largest organisations in the world.

To unlock the potential in your network infrastructure, go to www.molexpn.com